

THE BOSTON GLOBE • MONDAY • NOVEMBER 18, 2013

to do list

MONDAY

Rooting out roots Irish writer, storyteller, and photographer Kevin O'Hara grew up in Massachusetts during the 1950s and '60s, but had a hankering to learn more about his people. So he did the obvious — walked along the coastline of Ireland next to a donkey and a cart. In "Kevin O'Hara: a Lucky Irish Lad and the Last of the Donkey Pilgrims," he offers a pictorial talk on his journeying and discusses his two memoirs. Nov. 18, 7:30 p.m. Free. Charlestown Branch of the Boston Public Library, 179 Main St., Charlestown. 617-242-1248, www.bpl.org/branches/charlestown.htm

Take the wrap For a mere 10 dollars, you can avoid cooking dinner tonight and help a local charity. Just stop by the Celebrity Burrito Roller Series for a West Coast-style burrito made by Boston-based rock band Mean Creek. They'll be rolling for the benefit of the Pine Street Inn. Nov. 18, 6-8 p.m. $10 per burrito. Anna's Taqueria, 446 Harvard St., Brookline. 617-277-7111, www.annastaqueria.com

Electronic trio Producer Jon Hopkins cut his teeth making acid house on a four-track before launching a career that's included working with Brian Eno, Coldplay, and King Creosote. He appears with two other electronic music artists, Clark and Nathan Fake. Nov. 18, 9 p.m. $18. 18+. The Sinclair, 52 Church St., Cambridge. 617-547-5200, www.sinclaircambridge.com

COVER ILLUSTRATION by Mark McGinnis for The Boston Globe