

Paint Nite Buffalo

By Alex Peterson

Published: June 2, 2014, 11:31 am | Updated: June 2, 2014, 11:32 am

A new phenomenon is sweeping the Queen City and taking its art scene by storm.

Paint Nite Buffalo offers guided painting lessons at area bars or restaurants for friends, family and co-workers to take part in what is being called "social painting". Sip your favorite wine, indulge on tasty hors d'oeuvres and mingle with friendly company; all the while, following the lead artist as you paint your very own masterpiece.

It's pretty neat – Matt got a lesson LIVE on the show from Jen Russo, who helped him paint a firefly scene in a grassy field.

So all you wannabe Da Vincis, Van Goghs – sign up! There's an event tonight, Monday June 2, at 7PM at JP Bullfeathers in the Elmwood Village.

Head over to www.PaintNite.com for more information!