Spring Into a New Style!

Use these celebs as inspiration for getting a fresh-looking 'do that will be the envy of every mom in book club. by TRACY PEREZ

Michelle Williams's Mod Pixie

TRY IT IF...

- * You always find yourself getting complimented on your great bone structure—this cut brings all the attention to your face.
- * You have fine hair and want to create more volume.
- * Going to the salon once a month for trims sounds doable.

ASK FOR...

- * Lots of layers and wispy pieces that frame the face so the pixie looks feminine rather than tomboyish, says Nicholas Penna Jr., owner and lead stylist of SalonCapri, in Boston. Also request the hair be kept longer at the crown and super short at the nape of the neck.

Alicia Keys's Sleek and Chic Bob

TRY IT IF...

- * Heart or oval best describes the shape of your face. These delicate shapes are a nice balance to the strong lines of this cut.
- * You've got long, naturally coarse hair that's damaged, and you want a fresh start while staying trendy.
- * You're willing to put in a moderate amount of styling time.

ASK FOR...

- * A traditional chin-length bob that's cut close to the head with a deep, dramatic side part. Use phrases like "precise lines," "blunt edges," and "razor sharp" to give your stylist the clearest indication of the look you're trying to achieve.

Ali Larter's Effortless "Lob"

TRY IT IF...

- * You're tired of your long hair but are afraid of going too short.
- * Your hair's on the finer side—the shape of this cut adds fullness.
- * You want a style you can wash and leave to dry for a casual look.

ASK FOR...

- * A graduated, rather than layered, long bob (or "lob") with slight shaping around the face. Giving your stylist these specs will prevent the cut from looking overdone, says Rebekah Forecast, a stylist at Sally Hershberger Downtown, in New York City. For Larter's exact length, the longest pieces should hit just above your collarbone.
