

DAILY CANDY

March 9, 2010 | Los Angeles

Bag of Tricks

ShopTalk: 18 Travel Essentials to Stash in Your Bag Right Now

This time, it's purse-onal.

Money Matters

Keep your dollars and sense together with a Rebecca Minkoff zip-top Allowance pouch ($50) from her snazzy new collection of small leather goods and accessories.

Air Apparent

Less melty than a candy bar and less spilly than a cup of joe, Le Whif chocolate and coffee inhalers ($2) are a breath of fresh flavored-powder air.

Ear Ye, Ear Ye

Sponsored Listing
Scandinavian-designed Urbanears fold down for easy transport and come with an extra jack for sharing the love. Save 20 percent on the retro headphones with promo code DAILYCANDY.

On Lockdown

When rummaging through your seemingly bottomless bag gets to be too much (or there's no one looking), wear Alice Park's leather key chain ($40) around your neck.

Feeling Plucky

There's a fine line between glamorous arch and permanent shock. Half the size of a standard pair, the handy Tweezerman Mini Slant ($15) will help you walk it with ease.

Lose the Schtick

Fine. Keep pouting. As long as you keep lacquered in Lipstick Queen's new bright red Fired Up lipgloss ($18). It makes any sourpuss look good.

For a trompe l'oeil laptop case, a pen that will last you, and more things to throw in your handbag, go to ShopTalk.

[Daily Candy L.A. E-Blast]

SHOPTALK: 18 Travel Essentials to Stash in
Your Bag Right Now

15 of 18 « Previous Next »

Less melty than a candy bar and less spilly than a cup of joe, Le Whif chocolate and coffee inhalers are a breath of fresh flavored-powder air.

Available at laboshop.fr, $2.

<http://www.dailycandy.com/los-angeles/gallery/80938/18-Travel-Essentials-to-Stash-in-Your-Bag-Right-Now?n=15#gallery>