COLORADO — With recreational marijuana legal in Colorado, it was only a matter of time before a weed-themed resort opened in the state. CannaCamp will be in business next month, reports Curbed, and among the amenities will be "wake-and-bake breakfasts." At the end of the day, after long hours of toking up and spending time outdoors, patrons can partake in 4:20 happy hour and then cure their munchies cravings with a fine dining menu that includes Black Angus prime rib au jus, filet of elk, and pork loin with green chile sauce.
