

CountryLiving

9 Canned Wines You'll Want Take Everywhere With You This Summer

Leave the corkscrew and glasses at home.

Ruben Chamarro for Cosmopolitan

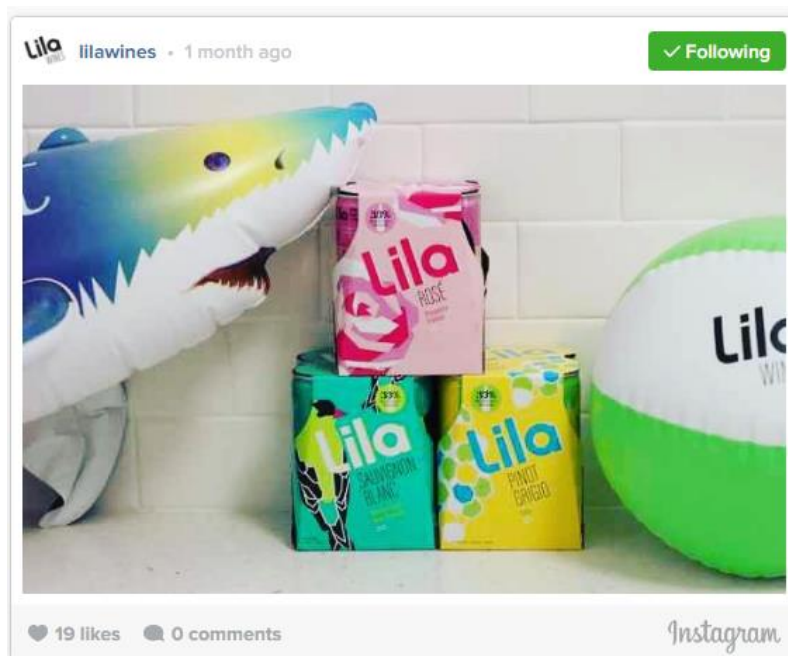

BY MARLIS CEPEDA JUL 14, 2016

Sure, wine is amazing, but traveling with a glass bottle isn't. But there's good news: Wine in a can is a thing! We've rounded up a few of our favorite lightweight, portable canned wines—they're just what you need for your next pool party or picnic. No wine glasses? No problem! Simply open and enjoy. Cheers!

Lila Wines

With three refreshing flavors, Lila Wines taste just as good if not better than the bottled versions. How? They say their cans are "specially engineered to maximize quality."

Price: $13 for pack of 4

Underwood Wine

Can't decide between rosé, pinot noir, and pinot gris? Underwood makes all three, and they're available online.

Price: $28 per pack of 4

The Drop Rosé Wine

This fruity beverage will have you saying yes way, rosé! Perfect for beach days or summer celebrations, the canned rosé comes in packs of four—one for each day that leads up to Friday.

Price: $18 for pack of 4

Pampelonne

Take your taste buds on a trip with Pampelonne wine cocktails inspired by the beaches of the French Riviera. With a choice between Rosé Lime and Red Sangria, these refreshing, low-calorie sparkling wines belong in your beach bag.

Price: $19.99 for pack of 4

Presto Sparkling Curvée

Toast the summer with a can of this beauty. Bursting with fresh apple flavors, each sip is pure perfection.

Price: $12.99 for pack of 4;
available at Whole Foods

The Infinite Monkey Theorem

Made in America, The Infinite Monkey Theorem doesn't pretend to replace your fancy wine selection. They keep it simple. All they want to do is make "ridiculously good wine in a can." Available in five flavors, each one is indeed "ridiculously good."

Price: $15 for pack of 4

Sofia Mini

Launching in 2004, Sofia was one of the first great wines to be served in a can. Tasting of "juicy pears, summer melon, and honeysuckle," it's no surprise why this selection is still so popular.

Bonus: The cans come with their own straws.

Price: $20 for pack of 4

Mancan

For the fellas who crave wine but don't feel like sipping from stemware, Mancan is for you. Available in three delicious flavors, these are so good, they're only available to purchase online in packs of 24.

Price: $105 for pack of 24

Flip Flop Wines

Any wine lover will flip over these too-good wine concoctions. Available in five flavors, bringing along any can of Flip Flop Wines will make you the life of the party.

Price: $6.99 for pack of 4