

THRILLIST

BOSTON

Fall Openings Preview

Boston's 10 most highly anticipated Fall restaurant openings

Because you can only get so excited about another Pret a Manger, we've put together a list of new openings that are guaranteed to get you fired up. You're only a mere click away from seeing the 10 hottest, most highly anticipated, probably-should-be-described-as-culinary-events-of-the-century-or-something new bars & restaurants slated to hit the Hub this Fall.

Check 'em all out right here...

Jackthreads X Doritos

THE BOLD COLLECTION COMPETITION

HUNDREDS OF DESIGNERS ENTERED.
15 MADE THE CUT.
NOW IT'S UP TO YOU

VOTE NOW

VOTING ENDS 8/30

EAT

Boston's 10 most highly anticipated Fall restaurant openings

By Dave Baldwin

f SHARE

TWEET

g+ SHARE

+ SAVE

f Like 19

Because you can only get so excited about another Pret a Manger, we've put together a list of new openings that are guaranteed to get you fired up. These are the 10 hottest, most highly anticipated, probably-should-be-described-as-culinary-events-of-the-century-or-something new bars & restaurants slated to hit the Hub this Fall. Check 'em out:

Name: Frost Ice Bar

Opening In: Late August/Early September

Why You Should Care: Uhhh... because it's made out of ice? Hello?? No, seriously -- "the entire surroundings" of this first-in-New-England bar located above the American Eagle (☹️) at Faneuil Hall, "from the walls and bar, to the furniture and drink glasses, are constructed of ice". The temperature's consistently kept at a balmy 21 degrees, all of the time, and you'll need a ticket to get in. Although, thankfully, loaner hooded capes and gloves are included in the price of admission.