

5 Florence Hotels With Views to Die For

By Stephanie
Orma
Contributor

I write about travel and design.

FULL BIO >

From the bridges of the Arno to the iconic Duomo, the red-tiled roofs to the quaint cobbled alleyways, Florence is undeniably one of the world's most beautiful cities. So nix the tourist crowds and check into one of these stellar retreats with to-die-for Florentine vistas all your own.

2. Grand Amore Hotel & Spa

It takes a lot of spunk to call a hotel “amore” in a city of passionate Italians, but this newly opened 11-room hideaway, just a stone's throw from the Duomo, is delivering on its namesake. For starters, the staff is over-the-top, gung-ho for personalizing your stay—from your favorite marmalade flavor, to how you like your coffee and eggs, to mattress thickness—noting everything before your arrival (thanks to a pre-visit questionnaire). Then there's the chef who wins over your heart—and stomach—with creatively plated regional dishes in the swanky bistro that pops with purple hues. But the piece de resistance is four-stories up in the rooftop terrace suite where you'll be eye-to-eye with terracotta-roofs so quintessential Florentine, you can't help but fall head-over-heels for these vistas.

Grand Amore by Stephanie Orma

<http://www.forbes.com/sites/stephanieorma/2015/06/17/5-florence-hotels-with-views-to-die-for/>

marlo